

RG Advanced Judging Course Pre-Course Information

Your preparation prior to attending a course

Prior to attending the course, we expect all candidates will have a broad understanding of the content of the RG Australian Technical Requirements, and the FIG Code of Points specific to our sport at this level.

The course you have enrolled in accredits you to judge at the one of the highest national levels in Australia:

- Advanced

The required reading for the course is the RG FIG Code of Points and the RG Australian Levels Program (ALP version 2). Before you come to the course it is recommended you meet with an experienced Advanced Silver or Brevet judge to develop an understanding of the content you will be presented with during the course itself.

What to bring with you

Bring your copy of the RG FIG Code of Points and the Australian Levels Program version 2, making sure you go to the GA website to check whether there are any published errata relevant to the codes.

- ✓ The International Federation website

<http://www.fig-gymnastics.com/site/rules/disciplines/rg> allows you to download English versions of

RG Code of Points 2017 – 2020 updated with changes and errata Dec. 2017 (1st February 2018)

- ✓ The Gymnastics Australia website

<https://www.gymnastics.org.au/bylawsregulations>, by scrolling down to the RG section allows you to download 2018 RG Technical Regulations (Version 2 June 2018).

You are advised to bring your own paper and pencils. The course organizer will advise if you need to bring your own lunch or whether this is included in the course fee.

During the course.

If at any stage you would like concepts explained further please ask a question. Although throughout the course questions may arise that need further clarification, these will be noted by your presenter and followed up.

The Advanced course includes

- a multiple-choice theory exam for both individual and group
- a practical exam for both individual and group.

The results from these assessments will be used to determine whether a candidate passes the course. Presenters do not give out results. You will receive an email from the state office to indicate your individual results following an analysis of your assessment scores.

Final checklist before attending a course

Have you

- Downloaded a copy of the FIG RG Code of Points
- Checked for any errata and updated your copy of the manual
- Read through the RG Australian levels Grid, especially the modified requirements for different levels
- Spent some time in a gym looking at how the gymnasts perform the skills within the Code of Points
- Talked to other judges about how they practice their skills
- Checked the time and venue for the course, packed your code, some blank paper and pens ready for the learning ahead.
